Extravaganza Cheese Board

For the client you want to keep for another year.

A cheese board that arrives with its pairings already decided, so nothing needs assembling. Set it down, open something to drink, and the evening more or less runs itself.

Gourmet Grazing Platter

Set it down at the Diwali party and it's the centre of the table.

A round wooden grazing board laid out for sharing: Colliers Welsh cheddar and a soft cheese, a jar of jam, crackers and breadsticks, pistachios, chocolate-coated nuts, marinated olives, and seasonal fresh fruit such as strawberries and grapes.

Eighteen-Compartment Nut Tray

Stays out on the table for the whole festive week.

Eighteen compartments of nuts, dried fruit and trail mixes on a single tray. Large enough that it stays out on the table for a week and keeps getting returned to.

₹6,520

Vegan Gourmet Crate

For the team where nobody should have to ask what's in it.

A wooden VEGAN crate of premium dry fruits, topped up with seasonal fresh fruit that we add at packing. Everything in it is 100% plant-based, so it suits any client or team without asking about diets first.

Velvet Chocolate Box

Looks like jewellery packaging. Opens slowly.

Twelve chocolates in a round velvet box that looks closer to jewellery packaging than food. It tends to get opened slowly, which is rather the point.

Fifteen-Chocolate Festive Basket

For the office that shares everything.

Fifteen chocolates, which is comfortably past the point of restraint. For the occasions where being measured would send entirely the wrong message.

Premium Chocolate & Nut Hamper

Lands well without any explanation attached.

Chocolate and nuts, packed to look considered rather than convenient. The version you send when it needs to land well without any explanation attached.

Tea Hamper

For the colleague whose day runs on a quiet cup.

Assorted teas with cookies and treats picked to sit alongside them. For the person whose whole day is quietly organised around the kettle.

Silver Nuts Hamper

Silver and dry fruit, the most traditional Diwali pairing.

Nuts and dry fruit in a silver box — the pairing Indian gifting has treated as auspicious for generations. Formal enough for the relatives you barely know.

Wellness Wicker Basket

Skincare and snacks, for the colleague who needs a quiet evening.

Healthy snacks alongside body wash and lotion, in a wicker basket that gets reused long afterwards. For someone who would rather be looked after than simply fed.

Chocolate Crate

A wooden crate that gets kept long after Diwali.

A wooden crate of M&M's and imported chocolate, packed by hand in Mumbai. Substantial enough to arrive as an occasion in itself, and the crate outlasts what's inside it.

Dry Fruit Combo Hamper

The safe, generous choice for a large team.

Salted roasted cashews, almonds and pistachios, with dried cranberries cutting through the richness. Roasted for the crunch rather than for the look of it.

Order for your team

Tell us the quantity, budget per hamper, delivery cities and the date you need them by. We come back with a shortlist and costing.

- No minimum order. Five hampers or five hundred.
- Logo packaging, branded ribbon and printed message cards on orders of 50 or more.
- Delivery to one office or to each recipient's address across India, with tracking.
- GST invoice with every order. Bank transfer, corporate card or UPI.
- Allow 3–4 weeks. Diwali is our busiest season, so the earlier the brief, the wider the choice.
